

Develop holistic measurement capabilities

Research support within product areas was strong, but when we took a step back, we saw the need to assess core UX metrics over time.

Megan led the design of the UX benchmarking program and launched the first survey in Sept 2023.

Longitudinal tracking of UX values like usability, navigation, satisfaction and product-market fit has proven invaluable to product planning and prioritization.

